Happiness Helper: Practice Gratitude

The Thanksgiving holiday is centered on expressing gratitude, but making it a practice throughout the year can lead to more overall happiness. Taking time to think about the things you appreciate contributes to feelings of optimism and satisfaction and a greater sense of connection to others.

Spice Up Your Life

Spices add great flavor and color to recipes, but they can also be beneficial to your well-being. Rack up the benefits by eating foods seasoned with these healthy flavors:

Cinnamon. This common spice is a great way to add sweetness to a recipe without raising blood sugar. In fact, studies show that it can do the opposite, lowering blood sugar levels and cholesterol.

Ginger. Struggling with tummy troubles? Ginger is able to calm an upset stomach.

Garlic. Doctors often suggest a Mediterranean diet for those with heart issues. One reason for this is that garlic is a key ingredient in this type of cuisine. The plant improves circulation, lowers blood pressure and reduces cholesterol.

Turmeric. Not only is the color of this spice gold, but so are its health benefits! This Indian curry seasoning contains strong anti-inflammatory properties and many powerful antioxidants. It can improve brain function and relieve arthritis.
